*spread
good vibes,

day!*

Good Vibes on Waves is a physical card set which leads to a texting/tweetting game. Your goal is to make as many people smile as possible :)

Below is a printable original deck of cards, on which you can write a positive message meant to make someone feel good. It could be a compliment, a declaration of love, a song, a gentle comment...

The game is then to make one of your friends guess the original compliment using only emojis. Send them via tweets, sms, or any other emoji-supporting media and spread the good waves.

You can also go outside and distribute these cards to strangers in the street. Everyone will then have to send these uplifting messages to their friends.

If you've got any funny card idea, or just want to tell us how you feel about this game, tweet it to us @ThemGames with the hashtag #GoodVibesOnWaves.

step 1

print both sides of your cards from this pdf file on paper

step 2

fold the card in two

step 3

write a warm compliment on your card, something that will make someone's day. If you need some ideas, there's a long list below! (translated in a few languages)

step 4

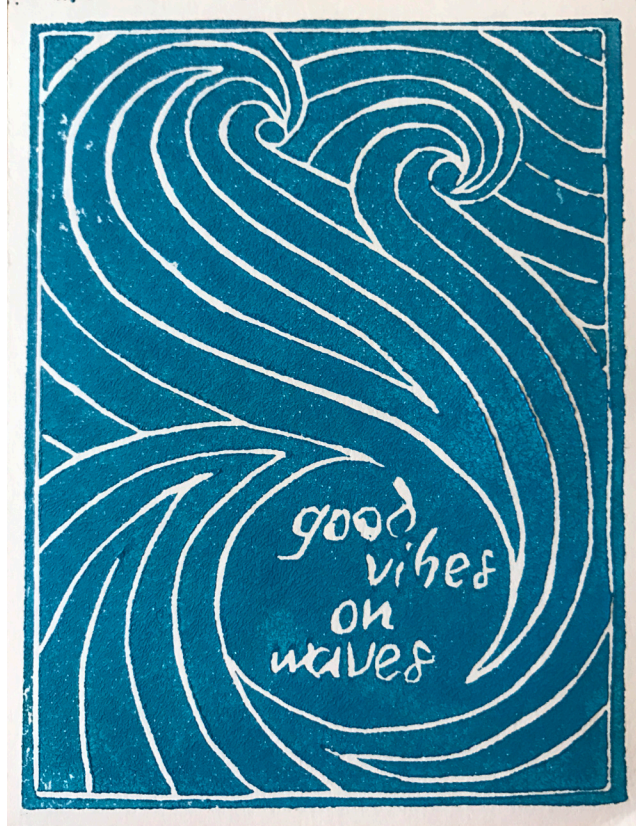

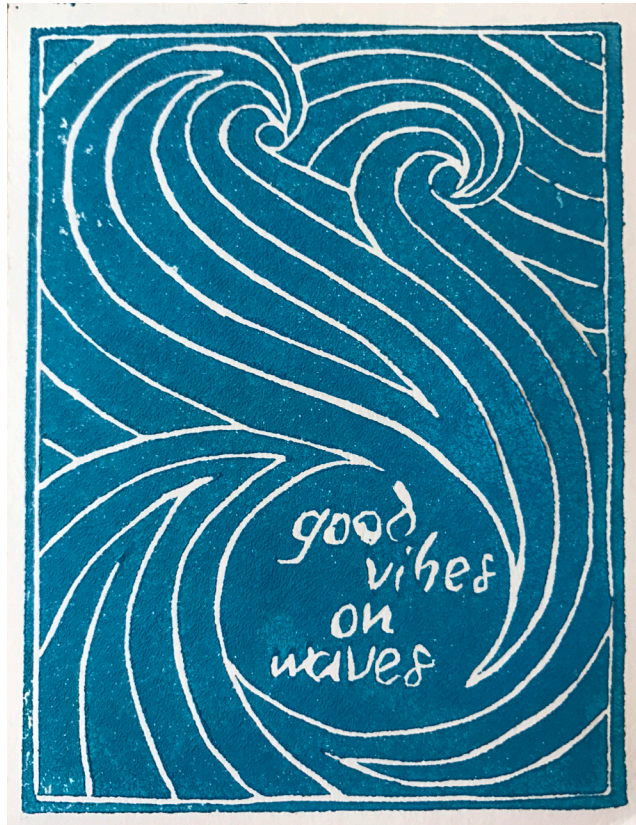

give your card to either a friend of yours, with a heartfelt compliment tailored just for them, or to anyone you meet outside to spread some love.

step 5

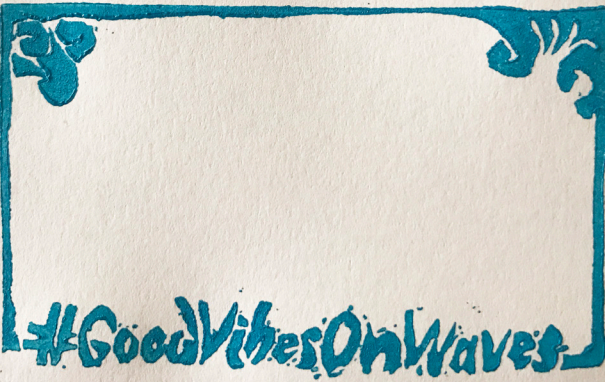

someone gave you a card? Make sure the good vibes get sent on waves. Tweet it (#GoodVibesOnWaves) or text it to a friend, remember to only use emojis, and have your friend guess the message!

step 6

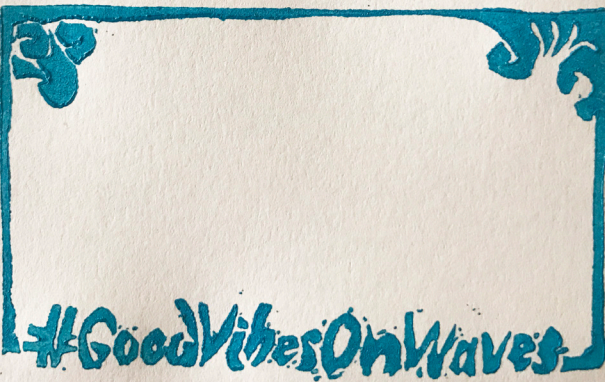

have fun!
